

The induction package:

This is a series of in-service training sessions on topics/issues essential to an understanding of the work the school does with children and families. It is expected that all staff attend these. The sessions are on the following:

- The Oxfordshire Safeguarding Board Generalist training for schools which is a requirement for all staff, and which is renewed every three years.
- The identification and support of children with special educational needs.
- Using genograms in work with children and families/life story work.
- Attachment theory and its application in schools to support children.
- Autism: theory and support strategies.

For each of the sessions, staff are given training handouts for future reference and those attending receive a certificate of attendance for their CPD records.
